Paul Beekmeyer, High School Principal
Biography

For the last 20 years I have worked with young people in a variety of capacities including social worker, camp counselor, teacher, and a school administrator. As an administrator, I have a deep belief in the thoughtfulness, maturity, and insight students bring when they are brought to the table. I believe that high school is a partnership between the adults and students and that students should have a meaningful voice in their education. I work at Lab because I know that this is a school where the faculty have a deep respect for the capacity, resilience, and intellectual curiosity of our students.
