New Booths To Sparkle Bazaarnival

Marriage counseling and psychoanalysis booths indicate a trend toward treatment of the student psyche at the 1966 Bazaarnival, 5-10 p.m. here tomorrow.

Proceeds from the student-sponsored carnival and bazaar will go to area charities, the school affiliations committee and the student activities budget, according to Chairmen Debbie Groban and Don Rothschild.

New attractions, including model car racing, spin painting and a divorce booth, will be supplemented by old favorites such as the jail, a marriage booth, U-High Grams, senior freak show, dancing and the King and Queen contest.

"There will be games, refreshments, contests and entertainment for all ages," the chairmen promise.

"Despite an early indication that lack of interest might cancel this year's Bazaarnival, the event was saved due to the hard work of the steering committee," says Debbie.

club vice president; Bridge club; soccer team.

ALVITA SPAULDING, sophomore—Student Union; ring committee. Interests: piano and art.

BRUCE BAKER, sophomore—Basketball and baseball teams; band; also most-popular boy in freshman year.

LAURIE SUGARMAN, freshman—Pep club; French club; volleyball. Interest: talking to her dog.

MARK ZELISKO, freshman—Basketball and baseball teams. Interests: sports and art.

TOMORROW'S A BIG DAY for Dale Garber, left, and Ted McClure and other members of U-High's orchestra. For the first time in the school's history they will participate in the state music contest, this year at Crete. Members of the choir also will participate in the contest in the person of six solo vocalists who were to be chosen earlier this week.

Votes Tomorrow Decide '66 U-High Queen, King

Vol. 41, No. 11

1362 East Fifty-ninth street, Chicago, Illinois 60637, Friday, April 15, 1966

JON KUHN, member of the cast of Drama Workshop's production of 'Ali Baba', discusses the convention of the American Educational Theater association at which it will be presented, with Bill Hoerr of the Jazz band, which will play at the meeting. U-High's Drama department is host for the convention.

Drama Department To Host Educational Theater Convention

U-High's Drama department steps into the spotlight next week as host for the Region Eight convention of the American Educational Theater association.

The Jazz band also will participate in the convention, which will draw delegates from Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. This is the first year U-High has been host to the annual meeting.

The program begins Friday evening, Apr. 22, and continues through Sunday afternoon, Apr. 24.

Mr. David Kieserman, drama teacher, was instrumental in arranging for the meeting to take place here.

His drama class will present "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves", previously seen here, 2:30 p.m., Saturday, Apr. 23 at International House. The Jazz band will perform 9 p.m. the same day at the Quadrangle club, 57th street and University avenue.

The convention will be attended by college professionals who are teaching acting, by high school drama teachers, children's theater production groups and high school students, Mr. Kieserman says.

In addition to U-High's programs, the convention will include a costume parade, dance-drama by deaf teenagers, high school plays and workshops and discussions of children's theater. Many U-Highers are planning to participate in the costume parade.

Most of the convention's meetings and programs will take place in Belfield hall. Lab Schools Director Francis V. Lloyd will welcome delegates at a banquet Saturday at the Quadrangle club and Principal Willard Congreve will deliver a welcome at a luncheon Sunday in the U-High cafeteria.

U-High drama students will participate in a demonstration of "The Teaching of Acting" Sunday.

Mr. Kieserman will participate in a panel, "The High School Produces The Children's Play", following the presentation of "Ali Baba".

"U-High is happy to act as host," Mr. Kieserman says. Tickets for U-High's portions of the programs are available to students from him in Belfield 342.

Parents, Students Favor Off-Campus Lunch--Survey

"Moderately favorable" is the plurality reaction of students and parents to the off-campus lunch program, according to a recent survey by Principal Willard J. Congreve and his administrative assistant, Mr. William Boyd.

The questionnaire was distributed to students, parents, teachers, neighboring householders and neighborhood merchants.

A plurality of the students, parents and teachers responding supported a policy of off-campus lunch privileges for all students. Majority of the parents said they would prefer their youngsters to spend time after eating in the library.

Sixteen of 91 responding school neighbors reported incidents of student misbehavior ranging from 14 incidents of littering streets and yards to one case of reckless driving.

Some other findings: 147 parents, responding to the question "Where do your youngsters spend their time after eating" indicated other ways than walking, in stores, the library or at home, the answers provided on the questionnaire, or declined to respond to the question.

A half-hour is the usual time necessary for a student to eat lunch.

Most students find area merchants "usually agreeable".

Mr. Congreve was to speak about the hour lunch at an all-school meeting Wednesday, after deadline.

Debate Team Ties For 16th in State

U-High's debate team tied for 16th place in the 1966 Illinois high school (IHSA) State speech finals (debate tournament) April 1 at Illinois State college at Normal.

Thirty-four schools participated. Rich East high school at Park Forest placed first, New Trier East at Winnetka second, Aurora East high school at Aurora third, Homewood at Flossmoor fourth and Waukegan fifth.

Topic of the debate was, "Resolved: That the Federal Government adopt a program of compulsory management disputes in basic industries." U-High's tournament record was four victories and four defeats.

Negative team composed of Captain Ted Becker and Co-Captain Carl Becker won victories in all four debates.

Lenny Bogorad and Steve Swerdlow were the affirmative team, which lost all four of its debates.

Mr. Julius Yashon and Miss Andrea Pontecorvo are debate advisers.

Capital Travelers Suggest More Touring, Rest Time

More time for touring points of interest and to rest are suggestions for future spring vacation trips to Washington offered by participants on this year's school-sponsored journey.

More than 50 U-Highers traveled by train to and from Washington. In four days, they visited the Supreme Court and other points of interest in the capital, Jamestown and Williamsburg, Va., Arlington National cemetery and Mt. Vernon.

Chaperones were Dean of Students Herbert Pearson and two teachers, Miss Andrea Pontecorvo and Miss Faynelle Haehn.

The students paid $129 for the trip. Sophomore Mia Takehita found the tour "most impressive. I especially

Bandstands Lure U-Highers

By Dan Olim

A venture (business and recreational) being undertaken by more and more U-Highers is their "banding" together into rock and roll groups, most of them involving students from other schools.

At last count, U-Highers are associated with four groups and the school has at least three "floaters", students who play with more than one group.

Recently performing for U-Highers at the Spirit Spree and the junior party were the Vandals, a group which specializes in "rhythm and blues", according to Jim McConnell, a coleader.

Other Members

Other members of the group are David Bloom, rhythm guitar and vocals; Robert Minnerly, lead guitar; Jeffrey Stern (the junior), drums; and Ken Anderson, bass guitar.

Randy Sandke, who can play tenor sax, piano, organ and trumpet, frequently practices with this group. He also has played for other groups with more professional and older members. All the Vandals are 16 except for Jeffrey and Ken, 15.

Like Randy, Don Friedman, 16-year-old junior, is a floater. He is leader of the Camels, who have performed here, and plays guitar. But he's also interested in work separate from performing for the Camels.

Jeff Also Floats

Jeffrey Stern, also a floater, plays in a group named the Asterisks in addition to his duties with the Vandals (whose name may soon be changed, according to McConnell). Other members of the Asterisks, juniors at neighboring Hyde Park high, are George Niirio, usually playing rhythm guitar; Donald Terao, bass guitar; his twin David on rhythm guitar; and Lester Joseph on lead guitar. Jeff is the drummer.

The Asterisks have been together for nearly a year. All the boys are 16 except Lester and Jeff, 15. They hope to perform at U-High soon.

An all-U-High group with a girl is the Four Dimensions. The girl is Sophomore Suzie McCleary, 14, who plays electric organ. The boys are Danny Meltzer, lead guitarist; Laurie Burns, drums; and Andy Teitleman, guitar. Danny, Susy and Lawrie formed the group a year and a half ago; Andy joined 6 months ago. They played at the sophomore party in December.

Paper Wins Second Top National Rating for '66

Its second top national rating, a Medalist certificate from the Columbia (University, N.Y.) Scholastic Press association, has been received by the Midway for first quarter issues this year and issues published after Easter last year.

The paper previously received an All-American rating for first quarter issues this year from the National Scholastic press association.

The scorebook accompanying the CSPA certificate explained that "Medalist rank is granted to publications selected from the First Place ratings for special consideration. This is based on intangible qualities that become evident to the Judges and which could be characterized as the personality of the entry. While no specific score is attached to this rank, it is seldom given to publications with less than top scores. Not more than 10 per cent of the entries in a given classification may receive Medalist distinction."

Entered as an offset newspaper in a private secondary co-ed school of 501-750 enrollment (grades 10-12), the Midway scored 943 out of a possible 1,000 scorebook points to gain First Place rating. A minimum 850 was required.

The paper earned 285 out of 300 credits for content, 375 out of 400 for writing and editing, 183 out of 200 for makeup and the full 100 for "general considerations...character, individuality, value to the school, seriousness of purpose, school pride, vision and achievement..."

"You have an attractive, newsy newspaper that should be well-read by your students and faculty," CS-PA's judge stated.

GOLD KEYS, symbols of their high honor as national winners in a Quill and Scroll writing contest, were presented last week by Principal Willard Congreve to Jeff Stern, center, editor of the Midway, and David Hahn, business manager. Jeff won for his editorial "Freedom of Dissent Insures Democracy's Survival" in the November 19, 1965, issue of the Midway. David won for his ad, "Fashion Is The Finer Shops in Chicago" in the January 14, 1966 issue. Quill and Scroll, a national honor society for high school journalists, selected about 10 winners in each of five categories for the keys and a chance at $500 journalism scholarships.

Musicians Set For Contest

Members of U-High's orchestra and choir will enter for the first time a state music contest tomorrow at Crete, Ill.

Still to be chosen earlier this week by Mr. Frank Tirro, orchestra sponsor, and Mr. Joseph Gardner, choir director, were five quartets: two string, one brass, one woodwind and one flute; a clarinetist; a violinist; a pianist; and six solo vocalists.

The orchestra and choir have given concerts at Morgan Park academy, Francis Parker and North Shore Country Day schools this year.

An original organ and brass concert piece composed by Mr. Tirro will be presented 8 p.m., Tuesday, at Rockefeller chapel.

Freshmen Plan Party for April 22

A class party, 8-11 p.m., Friday, Apr. 22, is next on the freshman social calendar, announces President Al Cunningham.

School clothes will be appropriate, he adds.

A theme still was to be chosen this week.

Committee chairmen are as follows: Publicity, Martin McDermut; refreshments, Isabelle Schmid; entertainment, Brenda Williams; and decorations, Lisa Hieserman.

Because of a conflict with Bazaarnival, seniors dropped from their schedule a party tonight. A rescheduling to May 20 was dropped also.

12 Join In History Workshop

"Learning to criticize teaching" was a major gain from a 5-day, 2-hours-a-day workshop in United States history during spring vacation, according to Debbie Groban, one of 12 U-High juniors and seniors who participated. They were joined by nine students from neighboring Hyde Park high.

U-Highers generally found the experience exciting. "I didn't care for the early morning business," said Ellen Beigler, "but the program was great".

Part of a national project sponsored by Amherst college and the United States Office of Education, the program here took place at Newberry library, 60 West Walton street, and was directed by 15 teachers and administrators from Chicago area schools.

From U-High, Social Studies Teachers Julius Yashon and Joel Surgal evaluated student participation in the program and Mrs. Caroline Cooper taught a class.

U-Highers in the project, all Social Studies IV students, and the Hyde Parkers, received prior to the program material on its theme: "Hiroshima: A Study in Science, Politics and the Ethics of War". Classes took the form of discussions between students and teachers.

U-Highers in the program were: Eric Williams, Madelynn Brown, Bill

Freshmen Return To Childhood Sand Box To Achieve Grownup Spelling, Penmanship Courses

By Lyn Jacobson

To speed up their spelling and perfect their handwriting, volunteer freshmen are spending three periods weekly at VAKT—Visual-Auditory-Kinesthetic-Tactile. The exercise is performed in "cold, scratchy, wet sand" to utilize the senses for better learning effects, explained Mrs. Ruth Kaplan, English teacher. Students can then see the words written in sand, she said, hear them being said and feel the movement of the hand and the sand itself.

The students who are working on their handwriting select, with Mrs. Kaplan's help, words with the letters that trouble them most.

The ones who are working for spelling get their words from the book "Improve Your Own Spelling" which has many of the "spelling demons".

The words are written on flash cards which are stuck up in the sand.

SPELLING THE WORD "chose" in sand, Freshman Mitch Pravatiner hopes to improve both his spelling and handwriting.

Paper To Publish Early

Because of a spring holiday, Friday, April 29, the Midway will distribute its next issue Thursday, April 28, announces Editor Jeff Stern.

The one-day holiday and three-day weekend will find students horseback riding, playing tennis, going to the movies and snoozing.

Freshmen Can Get Special Help In Math, English Here

Freshmen who feel that they need special help in mathematics and language skills can obtain it during option periods, announces Mrs.

Ruth Kaplan, English teacher.

The program, which started February 24, is staffed by Mrs. Susan Gross, who helps the students with math, and Miss Sharon Friedman in language skills.

Both teachers are available four periods each week and work with both of the freshman project sections.

Senior Tops Math Scores

Barry Snider scored the highest with 68.75 in the annual math contest sponsored by the Actuarial Society of America, Mathematics Association of America and Mu Alpha Theta, an honorary math society. Steve Jaffey was 2nd with 65.75 and Mike Aldrich 3rd with 61.50. U-High will learn its standing in the state later this month.

Top three scores of each participating school will be added to arrive at the school's standing in the state, explains Mrs. Pamela Ames, U-High

THOUGH THE PAPERS held by these journalism students look like real second-quater project.

Pasting up a newspaper according to original layouts was the requirement.

The journalism class, primarily for juniors who plan to continue in a senior newspaper course, does the bulk of reporting and ad soliciting for the Midway. Next year these juniors will become editors, managers, page editors and columnists and a new crop of junior "slaves" from the journalism class will take over the more unglamorous jobs of writing and financing the paper.

9 Summer Courses Open Here

Courses ranging from four in English to drivers' education will be offered in this year's summer session, according to a booklet recently mailed by Mr. Donald Conway, director of administrative services and summer school principal.

Summer school will be in session six weeks, from June 27 through August 5, and classes will meet 4 hours, five mornings a week, according to the booklet.

"The few courses offered," the booklet explains, "will all be of the 'personal credit' type; that is, they are designed to develop in the individual the basic skills useful in all areas of academic life."

Varied Content

"Remedial where the need is remedial, the courses also have something to offer the advanced student. Classes are relatively small, and the instruction is geared to the individual students and his needs."

"Most of the courses do not contribute to the typical high school graduation requirements; they earn credit only in the sense that the work is graded and that a record of the course and grade is made on the student's high school transcript."

Courses Listed

The courses are: Basic Writing Skills, for students who have difficulties in English grammar and writing; Advanced Writing Skills, for students who wish to improve writing; Creative Writing; Improvement of Reading; typing; driver education; a math course for students new to the school entering as freshmen in the fall; Remedial Mathematics II, for students who achieved at a low level in Math II; and Mathematics I-C, for students who enrolled in the two-thirds-credit section of Math I this year and have a quarter of work to complete.

Credit courses are typing, 1/2 and Math I-C, 1/3.

U-Highers Ponder Reality Of UFOs

By Debbie Zisook

Apparent increase of sightings of Unidentified Flying Objects in recent weeks has led to more frequent mentions of the topic in magazines and newspapers and on radio and television.

U-Highers have varied views on the existence of UFOs.

Junior Charlie Finkel says, "If there are flying saucers, then we better watch out. Because if these people from other planets have the intelligence to come to Earth, then they have the intelligence to overpower us. If there are flying saucers, then I would like to see one."

Saucers Possible

Senior Michael Perelmutter thinks that flying saucers are possible "because there is no evidence against them, except the scientists' views that the supposed flying saucers are just beams of light." Mike adds, "But are scientists always right?"

"I feel that the existence of flying saucers is probable," says Chris Goetz, a senior. "I think the whole thing is very exciting but I wish the flying saucers would come to Chicago because I am ready for visitors," Chris adds.

Senior Gareth Morris, in a more serious tone, explains, "I think the man that shot at the UFOs was foolish because he was shooting at something he did not understand."

Challenges View

Gareth also comments on views of Prof. J. Allen Hyneck, chairman and director of Dearborn observatory at Northwestern university, that recent UFO sightings in Michigan probably were marsh gas and that it is unlikely that any sort of spacecraft would just be visiting swamps. Gareth adds that he does not have sufficient information to form an opinion on the existence of UFOs.

Other students definitely believe

MELANGES

Junior Approves Course in France

By Jeff Stern

Bill Block, U-High's exchange student to the Lycee Paul-Valery, writes from France about one of the courses he is taking this year.

"This philosophy class has been more meaningful to me and done more to prepare me for life than any course I've taken at U-High," Bill says.

He is highly in favor of the inclusion of a philosophy course in U-High's curriculum plans. "It is the one class which concerns itself directly with life and the meaning of life," according to Bill, and it is taught objectively, with all theories presented explained. Bill claims that high school juniors or seniors are not too young for such a course, and that a philosophy course "need not necessarily teach a specific philosophical doctrine".

And on this side of the Atlantic, U-High's foreign exchange student, Marick Lauvergnat, has returned to her home in Paris. Following an enjoyable Spring Washington trip, Marick felt that she had realized most of the benefits of her exchange experience, and that the remainder of the year could be better spent in studying for her Baccalaureate exams, coming up in September.

that there are flying saucers. "Scientists are always making excuses for unidentified flying objects, but I feel that with all the billions of galaxies there is bound to be life on other planets" says Lenny Siegal, a senior.

Cannot Be Ignored

Seniors Mark Bass and Connie Coleman agree that the possibility of life on other planets and visitors from them cannot be ignored.

In direct opposition, Junior Ellen Jarrow says she does not believe in flying saucers and that "all the attention placed on them is just making people more aware and therefore people just think they are seeing flying saucers."

Marsh gas and pranks are Ellen's explanations for saucer sightings.

Cynical On Topic

Senior Mary Anne Erde admits she is "very cynical about the whole thing." She says the existence of such mechanisms is possible, but she prefers to believe sightings are the result of "overworked imaginations geared to the Batman and rocket ship oriented world of today." Until "tangible evidence" of craft from other planets is found, Mary Anne says she will accredit UFOs to the "ability of people to see that which they desire to see".

Senior Debby Forman and Junior Cindy Berman credit natural phenomena and publicity-seekers for UFOs.

DEAR EDITOR

Need Study Halls

Dear Editor:

It has been said that U-High has one of the finest high school libraries in the country. The William A. Rowley library is supposed to be an example for thousands of other high schools to look at and get ideas from. Magazine articles are often being written about the excellent facilities that are available for the student's use. Our library is staffed with highly trained reference librarians, whose degrees could enable them to work at much higher educational levels.

It is unfortunate that the U-High library, with its superior facilities and learned staff, is put to total misuse. The librarians spend an overwhelming majority of their time policing students who may be talking, running around, or playing various games. Obviously, the time that our librarians spend policing could be better spent teaching and helping U-High students to take advantage of the facilities.

I feel that the blame for such a situation does not fall to the students. In many cases, there is a definite need or reason for conversation between students. A student talking in the library stands the chance of getting a sharp reprimand or even more serious trouble. The U-High library has tried to solve this problem by making the cafeteria available to the students for socializing or group study. The poor lighting and noise make studying in the cafeteria onerous.

I feel that U-High needs a study hall, where students may quietly work together, and where students who are not using the library's facilities may go and do their work. A room such as this could easily be staffed by an extra teacher or librarian. The tremendous advantages to a

Don't Miss Evening Of Fun

Friends, Romans and U-Highers, lend us your ears. We come to praise Bazaarnival, not to ignore it. The good that a Bazaarnival Committee does oft lives after them. So let it be with this year's committee.

Dear Editor:

What's the lowdown on the complaints about the Midway's $300 appropriation from the Student Council and neglect of the track team on the sports page?

Interested

(The Midway staff was told by Council representatives earlier this year that students were unhappy with abbreviated, 4-page editions. The staff explained that its budget could provide only a certain number of 6- and 8-page issues. Council representatives later elected to turn over $300 of the funds the Council, not area charities or the foreign exchange program, would receive from Bazaarnival to the Midway for publication of additional larger issues.

(The Midway staff did not campaign for the appropriation, which it has used, as agreed, to publish larger issues. Several students have criticized the Midway staff for failing to investigate the legality of the Council's appropriation, which they contend was invalid.

(As for sports coverage, lack of space and qualified sports reporters has been a major problem this year. Sports coverage for a high school paper is a highly specialized job requiring long hours and willingness to dig for facts not provided by a mere rundown of past games. Boys in the journalism class this year were not interested in sports reporting and none outside of the class could be found who was willing to devote the time and effort necessary to the job. Next year's journalism class, with a larger male enrollment, probably will provide a solid sports staff, and along with more space provided by a larger paper, track teams and all teams can expect improved coverage.)

Weather Can Ruin Grades

Ah, spring! The Point, bicycle riding, picnics, fresh air, balmy breezes, finals. Finals? Yea, finals. Just because the weather is improving, proms are in the making, graduation is nearing and the yearbook is being finished doesn't mean school is over. Spring is wonderful, but it can do awful things to a person's grades if he's not careful. Seniors especially are ripe for the trap since they know their spring grades won't affect their college applications. They don't consider that studying for finals is an art they need to practice more than ever in their last quarter before that first college final. Spring is great, but remember, it'll still be there when the homework is done. That's when you'll enjoy it most.

ILLUSTRIOUS ALUMNI

College Journalist Wins Nat'l Award

By Susan Williams

LLOYD GRAFF, '62, recently was named the best college sports writer in the nation by the Larst Publishing company of Evansville, Ind. Lloyd, a senior at the University of Michigan, plans to enter law school next year.

Also at Michigan, Anna Katz, '65, has received the William J. Brans from freshman prize.

Trinity college sends word that Robert Stepto, '62, has won a Woodrow Wilson fellowship.

THREE ALUMNI from the class of '65 recently made achievements. Nancy Gist has been elected treasurer of her freshman class at Wellesley. At Wesleyan, Jamie Kalven made the dean's list and at the University of Illinois, Vicki Schnadig was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, national honor society for freshman women.

ON THE lighter side, an Associated Press dispatch two weeks ago recounted a speech by Actor Ronald Reagan, seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination in California, at Pomona college in Claremont.

At the end of his talk, Mr. Reagan asked for questions from the audience. "This young lady over here," he said pointing to a figure standing in the dim light of the auditorium.

For a moment there was shocked silence, then the 1,800 students and townspeople burst into laughter.

The questioner was Freshman Jim Miller, wearer of a beetle-style haircut and U-High, '65.

MYSTERY MUGS

London, Dirty Cities Figure Into Their Lives

By Joanna Breslin

Born in Cambridge, Eng., the mysterious senior boy pictured here remembers going to a kindergarten there for children of criminals and working mothers.

"They made us have naps on our stomachs," he recalls. "We'd also pick wild strawberries or go for walks and see deadly nightshades and dead cats."

Other past memories include working on the Cambridge Roman archeological dig, various summer jobs in London shops and restaurants: "I was fired from an Italian restaurant for accidentally spraying wine on the Italian manager's recently-cleaned suit while bottling the wine." And a trip to Berkeley over spring vacation, which provided "a week for self-contemplation."

Mr. X plans to become an archeologist after returning to England, taking another year of schooling to reach A-level (comparable to senior), and then going to a university. This summer he will travel to India and Japan.

Mr. X says he dislikes negatives, downs, sour milk, noisy people and sterile conformity. He favors positives, ups, being left alone, flashing colored lights, early morning, Ravi Shankar (an Indian musician), his collection of medieval arms and armor and Kerista, "an organization which believes life is beautiful."

"I want to live in a dirty little apartment on a dirty little street in a big dirty city" says the junior girl whose face is hidden here. She also aspires to go to Reed college, to work with schizophrenic children or teach in a school like Summerhill in England and to be Peter Pan.

Miss X spent a summer in Denmark at New Experimental college, "a school similar to Summerhill but for college-age students." Her extra time is filled "dreaming fantastic, vivid dreams".

The mystery miss lists as dislikes mohair sweaters, hotdays, apathetic teachers, phony people and being told what to do. She prefers silence, Fellini, pretending, Danish beatniks, rain and people who make believe. Look for her name in the ads.

Seniors Un-Gum Lost Privileges

Washing and removing gum from tables around school was the project by which the seniors regained option and off-campus lunch privileges last week after losing them because of the senior prank March 7. The plan of cleaning Scammons garden was dropped when science teachers pointed out that the garden was not large enough to hold the senior class, says Senior President Peter Heydemann.

MAT Traveler Survives Shoestring Tour

By Debbie Gross

Picture a little orange car driving across the Libyan desert and breaking down 400 miles from the nearest city. As one camel caravan, 10 children in a donkey cart and four Bedouin horsemen in full garb approach to help out, what would you do?

This problem was one of the many encountered by Art MAT Marilyn Hammersley, and her husband, George, in their 1-year trip across Europe and North Africa last year.

An Arabian mechanic solved the car problem and the orange car did make its way to Cairo, and more adventures.

"We'd always wanted to travel," said Mrs. Hammersley. "We decided to do it in the most adventurous way possible."

Adventurous it was. The trip was begun by Norwegian freighter to Belgium and continued to Scandinavia, Germany and Spain, where Mrs. Hammersley was a governess for 3 months, though she had no prior experience.

In Cairo the Hammersleys nearly entered the film business when they were offered jobs as extras in an Italian extravaganza. Because the job required actors to provide their own horses, the Hammersleys declined. Like most tourists, the Hammersleys in Egypt made a point of seeing the pyramids, but unlike most they climbed to the top, to find giant wasps, unexpected residents.

Yugoslavia illustrated the similarities of people all over the world, Mrs. Hammersley said. Here the Russian delegates to the Eighth Yugoslav Communist Congress held "twist parties" to Ray Charles records till 2 a.m.

"We had all the time in the world," Mrs. Hammersley says of the trip, "and the whole idea was to stretch the money as much as possible. The prices generally were low, 25 cents a night in hostels and 3-course meals for 25 cents in Egypt."

The memories are priceless, she adds, remembering the time a tourist bus her husband and she were riding ran into the side of a mountain, and the day a museum guard grabbed her into a dark corner because a Russian delegation was passing ("I had the most awful thoughts before and after he told me why," she remembers).

The trip must have been a success, because the Hammersleys plan a trip to South America next year.

Baseball Team Must Depend On Ability, Not Large Turnout

By Jeffrey Stern

Strength in numbers? Maybe so. But strength in performance is what U-High's baseball team will be counting on this year. The moundmen will number only 15, but among them 13 are capable of 1st-string performances, according to Coach Tom Tourlas.

Three season openers were cancelled because of bad weather but the team was told they might be rescheduled. They were North Park, April 1; Morgan Park, April 5; and Chicago Christian, April 7.

Today the Maroons meet North Shore here at 3:30. They can be expected to repeat last year's split, winning one game against N.S. and losing one. Peter Wolf probably will

SPORTLIGHT

Short Frosh -- Tall Ability

By Skip Moore

Freshman Dave Jacobs, at 5 feet, 4 inches, one of U-High's smallest athletes, compensates for shortness with tall ability in all sports.

His choices for participation this year are soccer, track and baseball.

In soccer, Dave started all but two games, yet came back to play the last halves of both. Dave was a key passer and assisted several goals.

Next sport for Dave was track.

In his first meet against Senn, he placed 3rd out of 8 in the half-mile. Four days later he broke his foot. He went out for track basically to keep his legs in shape for baseball, he says, adding that "It was a great disappointment to know that I had to do all the running in 2 weeks that I had planned to do in 3 months."

This spring Dave went out for baseball, which he said is "his sport". He will be starting pitcher for the frosh-soph squad and will suit up for varsity games.

Tennis Squad Faces N. S., Elgin Before Tough Evanston

By Ted Bornstein

Before meeting Evanston—toughest squad on this year's schedule—3:30 p.m., Thursday, Apr. 21, here, U-High's tennis men face North Shore here today in the first tennis match of the year, and Elgin Academy Tuesday, April 19, here.

Both meets also begin at 3:30 p.m.

Led by Peter Heydemann, 1st singles, and Charley Moore, 2nd singles, U-High should defeat North Shore and Elgin, according to Coach Norman Pounder.

He warns, however, that experimentation with players in the doubles as the season begins could cost U-High's racketmen an event.

There are three events in a meet, two of which a team must win to be victor, he explains.

"Probably the toughest match of the year" is how Coach Pounder describes the meet against Evanston.

"They usually rank in the top five in the state," he says of the Wildkats, adding that he plans to give start on the mound, a point in U-High's favor.

At Glenwood, 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 19, the Maroons should encounter one of their easier games. They beat Glenwood 15-1 and 12-2 last year, batting .333 against the Wildcats. Ron Barnes or Terry Kneisler can be expected to start.

The Maroons face a weakened Illiana 3:30 p.m. here Thursday, Apr. 21. Losses to graduation have hurt the Vikings.

As tough as ever, however, will be Francis Parker, there, Tuesday, Apr. 26. Maroon fans will remember an 8-1 loss to Parker last year and a 3-2 win in one of the most exciting games of the season.

This year the same two starters are expected to face each other: U-High's Wolf and Parker's Pfendler.

Other games scheduled: Latin, Thursday, Apr. 28, home; North Shore, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 3, away; Glenwood, 4 p.m., Friday, May 6, home; North Shore, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 3, away; Glenwood, 4 p.m., Friday, May 6, home; Illiana, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 10, away; Francis Parker, 4 p.m., Thursday, May 12, home; Latin, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 17, away.

Soccer In Spring? That's Club's Aim

Playing soccer in spring?

Yes, that's the aim of the newly-formed soccer club, says Treasurer Robert Hutchison. Other officers are Mike Tobias, chairman, and Norman Epstein, secretary. Mr. Michael Flynn is adviser.

The club will meet 4-5:45 p.m., Wednesdays, and 3:30-5:30 p.m., Fridays. Its members intend to play games with other schools' teams and has announced the objective of promoting "good standards of soccer playing and sportsmanship."

Peter Heydemann the nod in the 1st singles event, probably against Cale Carvell, and Charley Moore the 2nd singles, probably against Mike Madura.

Coach Pounder describes Peter's and Charley's chances of winning as "very good."

He is undecided who will play in the 3rd singles and two doubles. There will be five events in the Evanston meet, he explains, three singles and two doubles.

Remaining meets this year follow:

Illiana, 3:30 p.m., Friday, Apr. 22, home; Francis Parker, 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 26, away; Latin, 3:30 p.m., Friday, Apr. 29, home; North Shore, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 3, away; Elgin, 4 p.m., Friday, May 6, home; Illinois State District Championships, Saturday, May 7, place to be announced; Illiana, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 10, away; Francis Parker, 4 p.m., Friday, May 13, home; Latin, 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 17, away; State Championships, Friday and Saturday, May 20-21, place to be announced; PSL Tennis Championships (Red and White division), Wednesday and Thursday, May 25-26 at North Park academy.

Trackmen Moving Outdoors Can Draw On Experience

By Douglas Tave

Abundance of proven talent should offset a rough schedule confronting U-High's outdoor trackmen this year.

Most of the talent will come from the indoor track squad whose season performance, 6 wins-4 losses (plus 1 win by default), was strong.

Coach Elmer Busch cites the following standout talent for probable strong performances this year: Phil Engstrom, hurdles and high jump; Mike Fogel, hurdles and pole vault; Douglas Tave, dashes and broad jump; Dave Orden and Oscar Rattenborg and Stewart Herman in the half and mile; and James Steinbach in the 440 and broad jump.

Strong frosh-soph performances can be expected from Eric Lewis in the 440 and Peter LeFevre in the hurdles (see accompanying background story for other participants).

The thinclads will have the opportunity to show their strength today in their first meet, when they are host to Walther, defending PSL champion, and Luther South, defending runner-up, 3:45 p.m.

Both opponents, having survived graduation last year with only a few losses, can be expected to display speed and agility. The Maroons will have to be at their best to top them.

Not so foreboding will be a meet 3:45 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 26 here against North Shore, Glenwood, Elgin and Harvard-St. George. The teams are able but don't carry the punch of the championship opponents.

Other meets scheduled: Luther South frosh-soph invitational, 2:30 p.m., Friday, Apr. 29, away; Wheaton Invitational, 10 a.m., Saturday, Apr. 30, away; North Shore, Illiana, 3:45 p.m., Tuesday, May 3, home; Glenwood, North Park, Harvard-St. George, 3:45 p.m., Monday, May 9; PSL Districts, 10 a.m., Saturday, May 14 at Luther South; and PSL Finals, 10 a.m., Saturday, May 21 at Wheaton college.

In their second to last meet, March 22 here against Marshall and Schurz, indoor tracksters had one of their finest days. With only 13 men, U-High thoroughly whipped both opponents and got revenge for an earlier defeat from Marshall.

Final score was U-High, 64; Marshall, 49; Schurz, 13. Sparking U-High to victory were Phil Engstrom, who picked up 17 points winning the high jump at 5 feet, 9 inches; the low hurdles and high hurdles with

Enjoyment of Track Requires Knowing What Goes On

By Stewart Herman

To understand the results of upcoming outdoor track meets, knowledge of what goes on at them is necessary.

A meet is divided, as is outdoor track as a sport, into three parts: field events, sprinting and running. The sprint events are longer for outdoor meets than for indoor ones, as the quarter-mile track in Stagg field is used, rather than the eighth-mile one in the University field.

Field events take place apart from the rest of the meet and at the same time. Phil Engstrom, Hugh Wilson, Tony Kilbert, Mike Fogel and Douglas Tave in past years accumulated the most points for the team in field events: high and broad jumps, pole vault, shotput and discus throw.

The sprint and running events are staggered, which enables a coach to use one runner in more than one event.

In the sprints—120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 180-yard low hurdles and the 220-yard dash—again Phil Engstrom, Mike Fogel and Douglas Tave have led the team, with Peter LeFevre and James Steinbach the frosh-soph leaders.

The three longer distance races—880-yard (half-mile) run, 440-yard (quarter-mile) run and the mile run are entered by Stewart Herman, Dave Orden, James Steinbach, Oscar Rat-

Bowlers Finish Fifth In P.S.L.'s

Missing 1st place by less than 100 pins, U-High bowlers finished 4th place in the 9th annual Private School League (PSL) Bowling Tournament.

U-High's five-man squad consisted of Andy Breczewski, with a total series score of 416; Alan Rosenstein, 441; Mark Feierberg, 480; Ron Lessman, 500; and Jay Harris, 539.

Luther South won the tournament with 2,456 pins to U-High's 2,376. Chicago Christian placed 2nd and Luther North 3rd.

The tournament took place March 11 at Evergreen Park bowling lanes. U-High's team, which bowled only in PSLs, was organized by Physical Education Department Chairman William Zarvis. The five members were selected after tryouts.

More matches were not scheduled because of the difficulty of arranging transportation to, and securing practice time at, area bowling alleys, Mr. Zarvis said.

Last year's bowling team finished 5th in the PSLs, which were won by Walther.

times of :09.8 and :08.1, respectively, and coming in 3rd in the shotput; and Douglas Tave, who picked up 11-3/4 points, winning the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet, 10 inches, and getting seconds in the 660 and 440.

Other U-High firsts were Alan Manewitz, who went 8 feet, 8 inches in the pole vault; Tony Kilbert, who put the shot 38 feet, 4 inches; David Orden, who won the 880 in 2:09.0; and Oscar Rattenborg, who won the mile in 5:01.3.

Against Lake View here April 1, the Maroons proved themselves no April Fools by scoring a decisive 72-28 victory.

Pacing U-High to victory was Douglas Tave, who won the 60 in :06.8; the 440 in :56.2; and was 2nd in the broad jump.

To climax their perfect season, the junior varsity beat Lake View's juniors in a come-from-behind 49-46 victory.

Peter LeFevre paced the juniors with 9-1/4 points followed by Eric Lewis with 7-1/4. The 880-yard relay team of Eric Lewis, Peter LeFevre, Mike Kalvin and James Steinbach broke the 4-year-old J.V. record with a 1:45.0, and won the meet on the last event.

Four victories, no losses was the J.V.'s proud record.

Two U-High records were set at the PSLs to which the Maroons were host April 5. Phil Engstrom, Gary Lindon and Hugh Wilson tied the 15 foot, 10 inches record in the high jump relay, taking a 2nd place.

The 240-yard shuttle sprint relay of Alan Manewitz, Mike Kalven, James Steinbach and Douglas Tave broke the school record with :28.3, good enough only for 3rd place in the meet.

tenborg, Steve Neal, Doug Tave and Mark Kostecki.

The two remaining events are the relays. The 880-yard (220-yard four times) relay is run by James Nierman, Alan Manewitz, Peter LeFevre and Mike Fogel, while the mile relay (440-yard four times) is run by Doug Tave, Mark Kostecki, James Steinbach and Stewart Her-

SPORTS GAL-LERY Spring Sports 'Send' Senior

By Laurey Hirsch
and Debbie Mulstein

One senior U-High won't forget long after she's gone is vivacious Frannie Fishbein. An active member in virtually all areas of school activities, she is equally outstanding as a sportswoman.

"I really go for the spring sports," Frannie says, naming volleyball and softball as favorites. She's loved volleyball ever since she participated in team competition in elementary school. For U-High she has played every year and this year she is the only senior on the team.

Founded Team

Last spring, Frannie founded a girl softball team she hopes to reactivate this year.

Loaded with school spirit, Frannie is famed as a school party planner. The Student Union can rely on her ideas and help with its parties. She is vice president of the Union this year, was chairman of the pep club last year and organizer of the annual pep rally and can point to 3 years of Union service.

She was elected most popular girl of her sophomore class and one of the six most-popular senior girls this year.

Plans Career

The University of Wisconsin figures in her college plans, first for 2 years of liberal arts work, then study for a career in nursing.

Frannie tells us, "My favorite things are people and...uh...The cool breeze'...But I have one pet peeve: an abundance of noise—I hate noise—that is, unless I'm making it."

Her funniest experience was "Getting rejected from Simmons college. I laughed for days."

Between sports, her favorite pastime, and music, Patty Cole divides her time. This enthusiastic member of U-High's student body has been interested in athletics since the age of 5, when her parents enrolled her in the YMCA.

Many Interests

Gymnastic, swimming and dancing became her interests, and she continued to participate in Y programs until the age of 11.

A valuable member of the volleyball team here and a familiar face on the basketball court and hockey field, Patty enjoys tennis and swimming. She feels U-High's phys ed program is excellent and encourages participation in sports here, though she believes the gymnastic program could be improved.

Ballet and social dancing also are among Patty's "active" interests.

Serious Side

A more serious side to this "eager beaver" is her love for music. She is a member of the orchestra and takes lessons on three instruments: piano, flute and violin cello.

Teenage smokers, cigars and girls who appear in rollers in public are among Patty's gripes. Her likes include U-High's philosophy of responsible freedom, which she believes the senior prank abused.

Science or music figure into her career plans. Sports don't, though "they're a lot of fun", Patty concludes.

What Makes U-High Gals So Graceful? Dance Classes!

By Carolyn Kent
and Delia Pitts

Have you ever wondered what makes U-High girls so graceful? It's the modern dance class!

Mrs. Elizabeth Rehage, the instructor, feels that "response to rhythm" is a "built-in" one, so she decided to start a dance course at U-High.

At first the idea was met with resistance from students, she says, but gradually "it was easy to see that the dancers loved doing it."

Exercises, folk dancing and amateur choreography are executed by freshman through senior girls dressed in leotards and tights. The class is a requirement for freshman and sophomore girls, an elective for the upperclassmen.

The students are "mainly trying to develop use of the complete body, with emphasis on rhythmic response," says Mrs. Rehage. In teaching the class, she adds, she has two aims in mind. She hopes to institute an after-school concert dance group which would offer extended opportunities to those who are interested in modern dancing and she hopes to get boys involved in the class.

Some boys may laugh at the idea, she says, but explains that dancing would benefit their coordination in sports. The boys' basketball team, for example, often practices to music to improve rhythm motion, she points out.

Have you ever wondered how graceful U-High boys could be? The day may come when they equal the girls.

Elgin Will Give Green Volleyball Girls Trouble

By Wendy Holland

A relatively inexperienced girls' volleyball team will travel to Elgin academy Tuesday to play its third game of the year.

Opening their season April 7 here against Francis Parker, the varsity won their match, 15-12 and 15-5 (winner takes two games out of three). The junior varsity lost, 15-11, 8-15 and 11-15.

"Parker proved tough competition," Coach Margaret Mates said. "Our girls played as well as they could."

The Elgin team and that of Wheaton academy, which the Maroonettes meet Tuesday, Apr. 26, there, will pose problems for the U-High girls. As has been the case in every girls' sport this year, many of the better players from last year's team were lost to graduation.

Standouts on this year's squad, according to Coach Mates, should include these players: Frannie Fishbein, Gail Stern, Kathy Garland, Harriet Epstein, Patty Cole, Jill Deutelbaum and Linda Young.

Girls' Tennis Gets Underway

Girls' tennis got underway April 4, but realizing the precarious state of Chicago weather this time of year, the fem racketeers and their match coordinator, Mrs. Martha Roiter, set up a flexible schedule permitting the teams to play their games anytime within 2-week periods.

Singles and doubles matches are open to all High school girls, freshman through senior. The Middle school's prefreshmen have not been invited to participate.

Teams are responsible for reporting their scores to Mrs. Roiter, who is keeping the records.

U-High's Best Dressed Girls Get Their Spring Things At...

STEVENS

CLEARLY ONE of U-High's best-dressed, Margo Scudder, left, looks radiantly beautiful in her empire A-line prom formal with pink lace top, green velvet ribbon and flowing pink chiffon skirt ($30). Her accessories include white cotton gloves ($3), a pink hair bow ($3), a white beaded bag ($3), a pearl necklace ($5) and pearl earrings ($5).

The charm that contributed to her election as most-popular senior girl is evident in Margie Mintz's taste in clothes. An after-5 dress in white pique with embroidered pastel flowers, designed by Lance of California ($36), white pique gloves ($3), pink hair band ($1), M & M crocheted evening bag ($15), pearl drop earrings ($3), and distinctive pink shoes ($18) complete her outfit.

WINKEN, BLINKEN AND NOD are Linda Fienberg, Kate Green and Susan Williams, reading for lounging and slumber parties.

Linda's ruffled nightgown comes in white, blue, pink and yellow. It's available in petite, small, medium and large sizes at $11. Her hair piece is $5 and bow is $3. The house slippers are available at $6.

Kate's nightgown ($6) comes in pink, but Miss Green is wearing it in green. It comes in sizes 5-13.

Here it is worn with white lace scarf ($2.50) and her house slippers ($6.50). Sue William's floral lounge outfit comes in blue and rose (sizes 7-13) at $13. Headband with earrings attached ($2) and house shoes ($15) contribute to her chic appearance.

U-HIGH GIRLS are best dressed wherever they go, be it beach party or afternoon shopping trip.

Buff McCleary, her face hidden from the summer sun by a floppy hat and shades set ($5), is wearing a two-piece bathing suit with black-and-green polka dots and pink stripes ($13). Large beach (or sport-going) purse ($10) and white sandals ($8) add to the fun.

Linda Anderson, also headed for the beach, wears a blue floral print top (sizes 5-13 at $8) and matching pants ($9). Blue enamel circle earrings ($7.50), carpetbag ($9), white straw hat ($14) and natural colored sandals ($12).

Sporty Sonja Christy's puffy-sleeved dress comes in lime, orange and, here, wheat. Sonja also wears a natural straw Breton hat ($5), red ball drop earrings ($3), orange bead necklace ($3), pink leather purse ($13), pink bowed stack heeled shoes ($13), and plastic bracelets ($2-$5).

ALL U-HIGH GIRLS can be "the Best Dressed" by visiting Steven's fashion wonderland and stopping at these distinctive departments: Junior Dresses, 5th-State; Lingerie, 2nd-State; Junior Sportswear, 5th-State; 1st- and 5th-Wabash; Millinery, 2nd-, 4th- and 5th-State; and Jewelry, Gloves and Bags, 1st-State.
